To our valued patients,

Your well-being has always been at the heart of our practice. We practice medicine because of you and nothing else.

On March 8, we wrote via email to inform you that Family Practice Ravena will close May 17, 2024. This letter contains that information previously sent, as well as new information as to where each provider will be going and what you must do next. Please read this letter in full.

Recently, our practice has encountered numerous challenges beyond our control. These include persistently low reimbursements that fail to keep pace with rising costs and the ongoing struggle to recruit new providers. Recruitment has been particularly challenging over the last four years as we've prepared for retirements within our office, with Dr. Goddard being the most recent departure last year. We have been unable to attract candidates to our rural location. Additionally, our office no longer qualifies as underserved, rendering us ineligible for loan forgiveness programs for newly graduating providers. Consequently, many candidates prefer opportunities elsewhere.

Regrettably, we anticipate minimal improvement in these areas, and these realities have compelled our providers to consider the future of our practice and their careers.

Despite our best efforts, with a heavy heart, we announce the closure of Family Practice Ravena effective May 17, 2024.

This decision was not made lightly but was necessary to ensure the stability and continuity of your care. We truly feel this is in the best interest of our patients and staff. We can't continue to struggle indefinitely, and we can't leave our patients unsure of the future of their medical home. You will not go without care.

Some of our providers from Family Practice Ravena will continue offering primary care, and you can follow them to their new location. If you are unable to follow your provider, we have Community Care Physicians (CCP) practices nearby that are accepting new patients where you can establish care.

- Dr. Bryan Dworsky will relocate to Albany Family Medicine of Community Care Physicians, 391 Myrtle Avenue, Albany. Call (518) 207-2273 to establish care with Dr. Dworsky.
- Dr. Theresa A. Sirico will be leaving primary care to focus exclusively on natural care. Patients of Dr. Sirico, please see her personal letter enclosed.
- Elizabeth Valk, FNP-C will transfer to a CCP OB/GYN practice, Capital Region Women's Care, and will no longer provide primary care to patients.

 we know your intent to stay within CCP or go elsewhere. Once you sign the form, you can call the office of your choice to schedule an appointment when needed.
- You will be discharged from CapitalCare Family Practice Ravena effective May 17, 2024.

A message from Dr. Theresa Sirico to her patients
April 17, 2024
To my Patients:
It has been a 23 year Journey in Family Medical Practice, here at the Ravena site. 28 years as an attending physician in total. I have come to know, love and appreciate so many of my patients and their extended families throughout these years, providing the best mix of Integrative-Holistic with Conventional Medical care.
But now, nearing the close of my career at almost age 64, my focus will be turned to exclusively Natural care & combining Osteopathic, Homeopathic and Reiki-Spiritual healing skills in a more personalized setting, utilizing my skills as a Minister, in assisting people to clarify and connect with better Health outcomes, and to reach their higher Spiritual potentials.
Once Ravena Family Care closes, May 17, 2024, I estimate it will require about 3-4 months, in order to create and shift to delivering a Specialty Care practice. For those who are interested in this Model, a website is to be established under my name Theresa Sirico, DO, will be accessible upon Google search.
It has been an Honor to serve here in Ravena, along with our fine & caring staff.
Sincerely,
Theresa Sirico, DO
